ing aside several. The machine finally landed in a hole in the payement, where it stuck fast.

The two victims were Peter McKeon, seventytwo years old, of No. 426 East Sixteenth street, and John Flynn, forty years old, both employees of the Street Repair Department. When taken to Bellevue Ambulance Surgeon Wright said that both men would die.

The auto-cab had been standing in front of Van Tassell & Kearney's Horse Exchange on Thirteenth street near Third avenue. The machine had come in charge of Chauffeur W. A. Brennan, twenty-three years old, of No. 342 West Forty-eighth street, employed by the New York Transportation Company. The paysenger was a Miss Ellaworth.
